DEATH AT THE CAPITOL.

Representative Logan, of White-

Side County, Dies Suddenly of Heart Disease.

Which Whittles Down the Republican Vote on Senator.

A Sensation and Speculation as to the Outcome.

[Special to the REPUBLICAN.]

SPRINGFIELD, Feb. 26, 1 p. m.—The sudden death of Hon. R. E. Logan, a Republican representative from Whiteside county, which occurred in the state house at 10 o'clock this forenoon, has occasioned a decided sensation about the capitol, and the final outcome of the senatorial contest is the subject of general conversation in the building and in all parts of the city.

Representative Logan, who was between 60 and 65 years of age, and gray haired, had been afflicted with heart disease. He was confined to his room several days, but managed to reach the Capitol in time for the joint session.

This forenoon he came to the state house in company with his nurse, a lad of 17, but found the elevator not working. He had got out of repair and could not be used this forenoon. Mr.

Logan decided that he could walk up the stairs, and he proceeded to do so, supported by the nurse. On reaching the second floor he suddenly sank back in a fainting condition. The nurse and a janitor hastily procured a chair in which the old man was placed, while members of the House and visitors quickly gathered about him to offer assistance. The dying man was at once carried up the next flight of stairs on the House floor and placed on a cot in a committee room, where he was attended by four doctors hastily summoned to his side.

Their efforts to save his life were fruitless. He died within a few minutes after he was placed on the cot. He died of heart disease, his death being hastened by the effort to walk up the first flight of stairs. The body will probably be removed from Springfield to the home of the deceased in Whiteside, and will be accompanied by a committee of five members appointed at the joint session to-day.

NO VOTE.

The Republicans and Democrats agreed at joint session not to force a vote for Senator until next week, though a joint session was held to-day, and there was another to-morrow to comply with the law. To-day at noon but one vote was cast. Speaker Haines voted for Morrison.

Most of the members will leave for their homes to-night. A formal adjournment will be taken to-morrow until Monday, and on Tuesday the voting to select a Senator will be resumed.

EFFECT OF THE DEATH.

The death of Mr. Logan leaves the Republicans short one vote on joint ballot.

It was a tie before to-day, but now, counting Haines with the Democrats, they have one majority. There is considerable talk and speculation as to the probable result. It is held by many of the legal fraternity that the interposition of Providence cannot, under the law, set aside the required presence of 103 members to make a quorum on joint ballot. The Republicans have it in their power to break the quorum, if the presence of 103 members is required on joint ballot.

It looks now as if a "dark horse" would have a good chance to win the coveted majority of ballots.

CARD OF THANKS.

I have no words suitable to properly express my deep gratitude to the Railroad men and other Decatur friends of my son Irving W. Hopping, whose death resulted from the accident on the Wabash Saturday night. To all who contributed to his comfort in his last hours and expressed their sympathy in kindly notes, I return my sincere thanks.

SAMUEL HOPPING.

Bought a Store.

Captain Byron Barrett and R. P. Cox, have purchased the Palace Clothing store stock of goods at Sullivan and will conduct the business in future. We are informed that the price paid was $10,000.

There were several bidders on hand from Decatur, but the big two got away with the crowd in fine shape.

The Wabash shop men at Springfield, Ill., and at Moberly will strike against the reduction in wages. The State Journal says 360 men at Springfield will go out. There is some grumbling among the Decatur men. There are 400 to 500 employees at this point.

There will be a private sale of the Powers thoroughbred cattle announced within a few weeks. Theron Powers will name the catalogue in a short time.

The breeding and training of running horses will be continued indefinitely.

Not Snowbound.

The Nashville Students are in the city and will give their excellent concert tonight. Hear them.

Answer to the Mayor's Letter.

The other day mention was made of the fact that Mayor Chambers had written a letter to the Oliver Brothers to locate their Chilled Plow Works in Decatur, and to pay this city a visit of inspection. The following reply was received to-day:

OFFICE OF CHILLED PLOW WORKS,

SOUTH BEND, IND., Feb. 24.

Hon. W. B. Chambers, Mayor of Decatur,

Ill.

Dear Sir: The receipt of your letter of the 18th instant is hereby acknowledged, and we beg to thank you for the interest manifested.

The subject of the removal of our works is under consideration, but has not yet reached should we decide to move from this city the communications received by us will be fully considered, and such action as we deem proper will be taken for our interest.

Meanwhile permit us to assure you our high appreciation of the compliment conveyed in wishing us to locate in your community, and believe us Very truly Yours,

OLIVER BROTHERS CHILLED PLOW WORKS.

These works employ 800 to 1,000 men and the pay roll is $40,000 a month.

Two Ribs Broken.

Michael Dempsey, mail route agent between St. Louis and Chicago, met with a very serious injury while in Chicago yesterday morning. On the way to his car he slipped on the pavement and fell heavily, striking an obstruction which fractured two of his ribs. He arrived home last evening and was attended by Dr.

Oweneth. He will be confined to his home for some time.

At Rest.

Yesterday afternoon at the First M.

E. Church the funeral services over the remains of the late Mrs. F. W. Nieder-meyer were held in the presence of a large congregation of friends. Remarks
